SEC. FISHER IN SEATTLE TALKS ABOUT HAWAII

PLAN MADE FOR OAHU TUNNEL

Separate Corporation Will Be Formed to Handle Big Irrigation Project

"Waiahole Water Company, Limited," will be organized to develop the water rights under the agreement just made with the government for the benefit of Oahu Sugar Company's plantation. This is about all that is definitely settled about the proposition. According to common report, the larger private owners of water rights involved have given their respective opinions, besides which there are rights of way to be acquired from various owners of property in the vicinity of the water resources.

No steps have yet been taken toward financing the water company, and will not be until after the formal auctioning of the water license by the government. It has been estimated that the works will cost about $1,500,000, a tunnel having to be driven through the Koolau range. Probably the capital stock will be around that figure, and the talk of the street is that there will be no difficulty about floating it. Although, as intimated already, some negotiations for incidental privileges are still pending, it is not thought that there will be any trouble in that regard. The magnitude of the enterprise and its untold economic value can hardly fail to appeal to all neighboring interests and prevent obstruction from comparatively inconsequential considerations.

So far as appears on the surface of things, it ought not to be many months until actual work begins on this engineering enterprise, which will add one more to the great irrigation achievements that have helped to make the sugar industry of Hawaii world-famous.

The government's rights have been settled and the plans for the auction of these rights were given in the Star-Bulletin yesterday. The most important private rights involved, it is stated, are those of L. L. McCandless at Waiahole and Waikane, Mrs. Mary Foster and the Bishop estate. This estate has lands on the lee side of the island extending up to the top of the range, it was explained today. McCandless is understood to have given an option on his rights expiring the first of next year.

Auction November 16.

Advertisement will begin today or tomorrow announcing November 16 as the date for the sale at public auction, of the Waiahole water license, which the Oahu Plantation has agreed to take at the upset price of $15,000 per annum, announcement of which was made yesterday in the Star-Bulletin. Anyone desiring to bid for the water license may do so, but as the Oahu Plantation is the only concern in a position to handle it, no other bidders are anticipated.

RAINING AT WAIALUA.

At half-past one o'clock today word was phoned in to the Star-Bulletin from the Waialua plantation that a steady rain had been falling since noon, estimated at three-quarters of an inch at 2 p. m., and still raining, with prospects of continuance for some hours.

SAYS COMMISSION AGREED TO BY ALL

Secretary of Interior in Statement Declares Fear Charges
Lost Sight of in Bigger Questions Arising Here

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 11.—Secretary of the Interior Fisher arrived here today on the cruiser Maryland, together with Secretary Knox. In an interview given out here in which he touched briefly upon the investigation he conducted in Hawaii, Mr. Fisher makes the statement that "one reform we all agreed on was that public utility corporations in the islands ought to be placed under the supervision of a public utilities commission. The charges against Fear were lost sight of because of the bigger questions."

WOOD AGAIN HOLDS GIANTS AT MERCY

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 11.—"Smoky" Joe Wood again held New York's batters at his mercy today, and again the Red Sox defeated the Giants on their own grounds, making the series two to one in favor of the American leaguers.

Although Wood yielded nine hits, they were so well scattered that New York could make but one run, while Boston's eight hits produced three tallies. Each team had one error.

"Big Jeff" Tesreau started in the box for the Giants, but he could not stand off the hard-hitting Bostonians and he was replaced by "Red" Ames. The Bostonians were fleet on the bases and in the field, and every New York rally was nipped in the bud.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The attendance today broke the record to date for the series, 35,502 people seeing the game. The receipts were $76,444, of which the players get $41,387 and the national commission $7,644.

The score:
R. H. E.
New York..... 1 9 1
Boston..... 3 8 1
Batteries—Wood and Cady; Tesreau, Ames and Myers.

MCCANDLESS ECONOMICAL, PARTY SORE

L. L. McCandless and the Democratic leaders of this county are on the verge of another break such as helped to defeat McCandless two years ago.

This time it is not a matter of platform announcements, but of finances. The story from Democratic campaign headquarters is that McCandless has refused so far to contribute to the county campaign, and no secret is made of the fact that the county campaign management resents it deeply.

According to what the Democratic leaders say, McCandless was approached just before he left on his present tour of Hawaii and Maui and told that the party was very short of cash; dangerously short, in fact. He was told that the campaign in this county would help his chances a great deal and that as a matter of fairness as well as politics he ought to help the party exchequer.

The story goes that McCandless said he was under considerable expense in running his own campaign for Delegate, and that just then he wasn't in a position to contribute.

His point has not been at all well taken by the county campaign management, and one of the prominent Democrats was frank in saying today that McCandless' attitude had antagonized the party here to a considerable extent.

According to the "inside" political tips, the county campaign is not at all flush of cash. When the news came out some days ago that the management had secured a small corner on the auto supply for election day, it was supposed that the treasury must be full, but this is denied.

JACK DESHA NOT LIKELY TO REPRESENT

Jack Desha, the Harvard student whom Delegate Kuhio has chosen as his private secretary, will not be named representative of the commercial bodies in Washington, if the present sentiment among leading members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' association holds good next winter.

The resignation of George McK. McClellan has left two bodies without a representative at the national capital, and Desha, as the private secretary to Kuhio, is in the natural order of succession in line for the job, but local businessmen express the opinion that he has neither the influence nor the experience to make the kind of representative they want at Washington. Desha is highly regarded here, but his youth is against his getting the position, as he had been planning to enter the Harvard law school when his appointment as secretary to Kuhio sent him to Washington instead.

It was reported today that both bodies are looking around for a representative and that so far there has been no choice made.

CHARGES AT WHARVES ARE FOUND LOW

The question of increase in wharfage charges at all public piers in the Territory will be taken up by the Board of Harbor Commissioners at an early date, on the report of Commissioner Wakefield, who was recently appointed a committee of one to investigate the situation. His report is now completed in part, and he said yesterday that he will recommend the increase in wharfage rates as a result of the facts he has discovered in the course of his investigation.

Below are given some of the figures he has compiled, showing briefly the general situation as regards both private and public piers.
In all there are sixty-one wharves in the Territory outside Oahu. Of these twenty-six are Territorial wharves and thirty-five are privately owned. The majority are not really entitled the dignity of the name "wharf," as they are little more than mere landings; in fact all the Territorial landings handle freight and passengers by surf boat. Three private wharves land freight and passengers direct from the vessel to the pier; thirteen land freight by cable and nineteen land freight by surf boats.

Army Officers in Honolulu Now Watch the War News Eagerly

That the gravest military problem that confronts the Balkan states in their united war against Turkey, is that of uniting in fact as well as in name, is the opinion of well-posted army officers here, who are following with keen interest the unfolding of the war map of Eastern Europe. Under one competent leader, and working out a concerted plan of campaign, the armies of Greece, Serbia, Montenegro and Bulgaria are more than a match numerically for the Sultan's troops. But will there be concerted action under one head? That is the point on which local experts are more than doubtful.

"It is hard to make out from the brief newspaper dispatches just who is beating who," said Lieut. Col. Campbell, adjutant general of the Department of Hawaii, this morning. "Naturally, every army officer is interested in the developments of any war, for every modern war teaches its own lesson, which the entire military of the world can profit by. However, it's too early in the day, and too little is known here of actual conditions, to permit of forming anything like definite opinions."

MARSHAL GHAZI AHMED MOUKHTAR PASHA
The new grand vizier. Abdul Hamid kept him in Egypt twenty years to keep him out of Constantinople. He is one of Turkey's most progressive men.

"On the surface, though, it looks as though the Balkan states would have an excellent chance of defeating Turkey if there could be concerted action under one leader. It has usually been

N. Y. Murder Trial On

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 11.—More sensational developments came today in the trial of Police Lieutenant Becker on the charge of conspiracy in the killing of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler. An eyewitness of the killing in front of the Metropole, Thomas Ryan, a chauffeur, was evidently terrorized by the gunmen and declined to identify the assassins. Another eyewitness, Giovanni Stanich, swore on the stand today that "Whiskey" Louis was the man who fired at least one shot. He failed to identify the other three gunmen now on trial.

Italian Airmen Expected to

In spite of the fact that none of the four nations now hurling defiance at Turkey across the Balkans, or the army of the crescent itself, have any regular aerial fleet, it is likely that before war has been in progress for any length of time, all five nations will have their air scouts ready to do, and very likely die, for the cause they have espoused.

IVERS GRIEVED AT SIZE OF DOG-TAX; TEN CENTS ENOUGH

It was not the alleged cloud of title on his home at Punahou that was worrying "Dick" Ivers this morning, but a dogged piece of imposition, as he looked at it, on the part of the tax office.

"I wanted a dog tag," said Mr. Ivers, "and instead of giving it to me for ten cents they send me a bill for $1.10. Now, I didn't own the dog on January 1st, and don't see that I owe for the dog license this year."

"If you go into that tax office," remarked Judge Wilder, who had just come out of the same place, "they'll skin you good and plenty."

Nevertheless the aggrieved citizen did go in. He probably came out with a $1.10 dog tag and tag receipt.
